ATR VERDICT: SPYCATCHER was beaten by less than a length when runner-up in the Group 3 Acomb Stakes at York as a juvenile and demonstrated his effectiveness over 6f when chasing home the well-regarded Shark Two One at Redcar in October. Karl Burke's 99-rated colt sets the form standard and could take plenty of stopping this afternoon. Cooperation and My Boy Frankie can chase the selection home to land the minor honours.

ATR VERDICT: ALPHONSE KARR has posted strong efforts in defeat on both starts to date and should be thereabouts for Tom Ward if running to the same level on his return from a 109-day break. Fernando Rah is entitled to improve for her debut effort at Wolverhampton and could feasibly finish on the premises once more, while Marlay Park is worth a market check on debut for Jim Boyle and Khatwah could take a forward step in a first-time tongue-tie.

ATR VERDICT: A trappy contest to untangle. The tentative vote goes to BARNEY'S BAY, who took a backward step at Haydock on his last outing but had previously shaped very encouragingly over an extended 7f on debut at Beverley during the summer. There is likely better to come from Kevin Ryan's Dexter Belle this term and she's the sporting selection for the silver medal. Karl Burke's Entwistle and Irish import Musahaba, who has been gelded and now debuts for David O'Meara, are others with place possibilities.

ATR VERDICT: GOLDEN FLAME represents a stable who have started the new season brightly and should be all the wiser for his comeback spin on the all-weather last month. Mark Johnston's charge had a busy juvenile campaign and is more exposed than his three rivals, though he should take plenty of beating if running to his mark in this company. Going Gone and Wantage are entitled to come on for their debut spins, though Everett is sporting blinkers on debut and is best watched for now.

ATR VERDICT: FALBERTO ran well when scoring from the front in a similar contest over this trip at Stratford last time and is expected to follow up to land a double. Good Bye, who has Harry Skelton on board, is respected now eased in grade and should be competitive on these terms in receipt of 8lb from the selection. None of the others make any appeal whatsoever. Trio D'ecajoul is merely a sporting pick for the bronze medal on the basis he won a point-to-point several years ago.

ATR VERDICT: CHAMERON pulled-up at the Cheltenham Festival when last sighted but he's taking a marked drop in class this afternoon and makes standout appeal on his preceding hunter chase victory at Leicester in February. Wick Green has won five times between the flags and things could click into place for him under Rules at some point. Distance winner Sam Red is no forlorn hope for a place.

ATR VERDICT: Buxted Two got within a length of success at Kempton when last seen in November and has to be considered here, but STATE SECRETARY had a subsequent winner behind when second on his debut at the Sunbury venue and Richard Hannon's charge is taken to return to action with a victory here. Eleven Eleven has some solid if unspectacular form to his name at Southwell, while Muhalhel didn't show much on debut at Newbury last term, but William Haggas has opted to give him a wind operation and he sports a tongue tie here, both of which could help.

ATR VERDICT: Alcazan struck on her handicap debut at Lingfield and a 5lb rise might not be enough to stop her, while Bonnie Lad is 4lb higher than when prevailing over a mile here last month and could go well if proving equally effective over this trip. While both have to be respected, it may be worth taking them on with IESHA, who was only narrowly denied over 6f here last time and could go well off the same mark in this.

While still operating in 0-60 company Mick Appleby's charge could be difficult to keep out of the frame. Largo Bay could feasibly take a step forward for Richard Hughes now stepping up from 7f on his handicap debut, while Ambarella and Shimla Rolann are others who could feasibly figure.
