ATR VERDICT: ASK THE DOC has filled second spot on three occasions this season and sets a clear form standard here. The son of Ask has the most hurdling experience in this field and, in what appears to be a winnable contest, he can reward connections by getting his head in front.

Forpaddytheplumber looks the main danger under Brian Hughes, but he has been well beaten in two starts over timber after his bumper success at Haydock, and may be one for handicaps. Melvich Bay will need to improve on her previous effort to play a role, while Blackwell Bay is interesting on his hurdling bow.

ATR VERDICT: This could turn into a head-to-head between emphatic recent course winners Mr Katanga and GATS AND CO. Slight preference is for the latter, though, with the runner-up from that most recent success going on to frank the form since. The form of Poldark Cross' most recent second at Fontwell got a major boost when the winner took the Kim Muir at Cheltenham earlier in the week and he is likely to be thereabouts once more.

ATR VERDICT: This represents a significant drop in grade for SCIPION, having run with credit in Grade 2 company the last twice behind several Albert Bartlett contenders. With the Tom Lacey stable in tremendous form, the son of Shantou can get off the mark here at the main expense of Phantom Getaway, who is likely to improve for the step up in trip following a pair of solid placed efforts over shorter. Mac Be Lucky rates best of the rest.

ATR VERDICT: MALPAS didn't need to be anywhere near his best when getting his head back in front over C&D earlier in the month and this appears to be a decent opportunity for Donald McCain's gelding to back that performance up. A sounder surface is likely to benefit Augharue based on his second at Kelso on his penultimate start, while better is expected of Cockney Beau on his handicap bow.

ATR VERDICT: THUNDEROSA just gets in at the bottom of the handicap and will be suited by this stamina test. The Dermot McLoughlin-trained gelding recorded a trio of hurdle wins all over three miles early last year and seems to be coming to the boil over fences this term judged on his latest effort at Navan when a close up third to favourite Call The Tune and Conqueredalofeurope. The latter is first reserve here and would be an obvious danger if getting a run. Portstorm is another light-weight to consider. He joined Colin McBratney from Ian Duncan last autumn and now races over fences for just the fourth time following a promising second over hurdles at Punchestown last month. Peaches And Cream and Spades Are Trumps provide Gavin Cromwell with a strong dual challenge, while Amaulino has been lightly raced since winning this race three years ago and won a point-to-point at Belharbour last month.

ATR VERDICT: MAROWN ran no sort of race when pulled up on his return to action at Catterick last month, but the eight-year-old, who doesn't have that many miles on the clock, is capable of bouncing back to form on this occasion. The King Of May has been running with credit at this level, winning at Sedgefield in January, and he is likely to enter calculations along with Whoshotthesheriff.

Long Handicap: Highstreetfashion 9 - 13

ATR VERDICT: SCHOOL LANE returned in great form this season winning two point-to-points before also scoring twice under Rules at Down Royal and Fairyhouse. Liam Lennon's charge hasn't been disgraced on both outings since over longer trips and this looks a decent opportunity to regain the winning habit. Memory Of Youth has been in good form over hurdles this season, winning twice over 2m4f at Fairyhouse. Her jumping hasn't impressed in three previous outings over fences, but if that can be ironed out then she's certainly off a very lenient mark. Corrigaleen was placed in a 16-runner Punchestown handicap hurdle on her penultimate start and any market move would be interesting on her chasing debut. Drummullagh Rocky made all here last summer, while Nuttorridge also has a course win over hurdles to his credit.
